

UEFA EURO 2012 AND EURO 2016 ON M6

UEFA and M6 signed an agreement for the two next Euro.

M6 will propose 10 matches of the UEFA Euro 2012 among which notably, the opening match, two of the three matches of the first tour of the French national team, two quarterfinals and a semi-final. This prestigious competition will oppose the sixteen best European national teams and will take place from June 8th till July 1st in Poland and in Ukraine.

The UEFA Euro 2016 will take place in France and M6 will broadcast in live 11 of the best matches of the competition.

With this new agreement, M6 Group confirms its involvement in football and reminds that it will be the only free to air broadcaster of the European competitions from 2012 to 2015, thanks to the renewal of its agreement with UEFA Europa League.
